Holiday

Can you find the hidden pieces from the LEGO models shown on these two pages?

The LEGO characters practice holiday customs from around the world. In some places, children break a piñata filled with presents. Sheriff Wild Wyatt West blind folded Nova Hunter, Thresher and Dr. Cyber. Then he gave each one a stick and a spin and aimed them at the piñata. On his turn Nova Hunter broke the piñata open and presents flew all over the place.

The results are in from the Adventures on LEGO Island contest sponsored by Mindscape, FamilyPC, and LEGO Systems, Inc. Kids were invited to help write the plot for the new LEGO computer game, and judging by the hundreds of entries, coming up with ideas for a game is just as much fun as playing one! Joseph Green, a 9-year-old from California and Daniel Armendariz, an 11-year-old from Texas are the two winners. They will both get to work with Mindscape in creating Adventures on LEGO Island.

The game involves the town bad guy, The Brickster, who took apart the police helicopter and hid the bricks all over LEGO Island. We asked kids to tell us where he hid the parts and why. Boy, are you guys sneaky!

One of Joseph's ideas was to hide a LEGO brick "in a sleeping whale's stomach who needs a soda...He'll hiccup the piece out!" Part of Daniel's sinister plan is to hide bricks in pizza boxes being prepared for delivery. "That way, the bricks were scattered all over LEGO Island!" Mindscape, FamilyPC, and LEGO Systems, Inc. thank everyone who participated.

Feature Story

This is Brick Phillips.
Today on

INSIDE LEGO MANIA

four terrific time-traveling tales.
First up. Would you eat kelp burgers and plankton pizza for the holidays?...

LEGO Club member, David Lee, of California did.
David says:

One day I was playing with my Aquazone LEGO sets, and the Flying Time Vessel appeared from nowhere.
Dr. Cyber said, "Let's go have the holiday of our lives!" We put on our oxygen tanks, fins, and masks and headed underwater to the Aquazone.

There I saw the most incredible thing:
Aquanauts and Aquasharks were decorating a huge underwater tree — together. Jock Clouseau, in his Crystal Explorer Sub, and Thresher, in his Deep Sea Predator, used the grabber arms on their ships to put electric eel lights, coral ornaments and spinning starfish on the tree. At the top went a shining hydrolator crystal.

After decorating, Jock said,
"Plankton pizza and kelp
burgers for everybody.
Even Thresher."

After discovering an old mine, LEGO Club member Billy "the Kid" Wagner of Texas claims he helped time travelers dig gold. This is his incredible story.

One day while rock climbing, I noticed a mine shaft. The next thing I knew I was inside an old abandoned mine that looked just like my Bandit's Hideout LEGO set. Flatfoot Thompson and Dewey Cheatum were planning to rob Gold City Junction Bank. Flatfoot handed me the dynamite brick and said,

"Come on, stranger, we've got a bank to rob!" Where was I? Was this a dream? I didn't want to rob the Bank. I was so scared that I ran right out of the mine.

Just outside the gold mine, I saw Dr. Cyber standing by the Flying Time Vessel (FTV) digging for gold. "Can you take me home, Dr. Cyber?" I asked. "Sure, Billy. But first, how about loading some gold onto the FTV. This old bandit's mine has the best gold for making holiday ornaments and bows." We loaded the ship with gold, and Dr. Cyber flew me home.

A modern-day version of Treasure Island or a holiday hoax? You decide in a strange story reported by Brian Phelps of Wisconsin, Brandon Eckhardt in Utah, and Ricky Lozano in Texas.

One day, I was walking along the beach and spotted the Flying Time Vessel. I climbed on board and grabbed a pirate hat. All of a sudden, I fell onto a pirate ship...the Red Beard Runner. Just then, I overheard Red Beard tell Tattoo McGoo, "Those Islanders will never find their presents on Skull Island."

Then there was a BOOM! A cannonball from the Armada Flagship broke the mast on the Red Beard Runner and the mast was falling towards me. I dove overboard and swam as fast as I could to the Flagship. The Admiral himself helped me aboard. "Red Beard hid the presents on Skull Island," I exclaimed.

Thanks to the speedy Armada Flagship, we got to Skull Island and delivered the presents to the Islanders, long before Captain Red Beard and his crew.

Would you be surprised if some kids told you they went to outer space for the holidays? We were. This story by LEGO Club members Qadiyr Davis of Oklahoma and William Lanoie of Texas coming up next.

One Winter morning, I was playing with my Explorien Starship when the starship grew bigger and bigger-until it was larger than my house. Then, Nova Hunter stepped out and said, "I want to take you to the Android Base." In a flash I was at the Android Base. It was so cool! I saw other Exploriens, Ann Droid and even Dr. Cyber.

"You're just in time for the holidays," said Ann Droid. "But first, you need to find your present." Ann gave me an Explorien decoder and I decoded the clues to find my present. It was a 17-legged Saturn spider! Then, Nova Hunter took me home, and my dad made me keep my spider in the garage.

It can fly through time.

Brick Phillips with a late breaking news flash. Giant LEGO TECHNIC guys detected. Two Exploriens found the three giants hibernating in a cave and woke them up. The enraged giants, Moe, Curly, and Larry chased the Exploriens away with a huge vehicle.

Thank-you for joining us on this special edition of Inside LEGO Mania. This is Brick Phillips saying good-bye and good building.

TECH TIPS

Off in a Flash!

The #8440 Formula Flash moves so smooth, it's like it's floating on air. Must be the air-filled tires. This roaring racer handles just like a Formula 1 car. Twist the steering wheel to corner around the tightest curves. The steering wheel pushes the twin tie rods which turn the tires mounted on the front axles. The front and rear airfoils keep your race car from flying off the road when that 6-piston engine starts pounding.

When you want a break from flying around in your fantastic Formula Flash, instructions show you how to turn the lean, mean racing machine into a cool hot rod. Just add #8720 Power Pack (sold separately) to motorize the howlin' hot rod and you'll be cruising through the streets.

CLUB MEMBER REVIEW

Here's what club member, Brian Coss, age 12, of Kansas thinks of the Formula Flash: It was pretty easy to build. First I built the engine because it is the coolest part. I think that it looks similar to a real engine. I would recommend the Formula Flash to all race car loving LEGO builders.

GUESS THE GIFT AND WIN A PRIZE!

The LEGO characters shipped in and got the LEGO MANIAC a super LEGO vehicle to thank him for all the help he gave them during the year. Thresher got the gift and wrapped it, but he won't tell his buddies what it is. Thresher will only say that it could be the Flying Time Vessel, Armada Flagship, Crystal

Time Cruising to the Shark's Crystal Cave

by Club Member Josiah Lebowitz from Colorado

It all started when I decided to take a walk. Suddenly, I found myself in a strange place filled with strange gadgets. There was a skeleton, a robot, a monkey, a weird telescope, a strange red and white hypno disk, and strangest of all, a ship with some sort of engines, and all sorts of hats and tools. Something about this stuff seemed familiar. Then it hit me...it was the Mystic Mountain Time Lab.

Then I saw Tim and Dr. Cyber! Tim asked me if I wanted to visit the Aquanauts with them. I said, "YES!" Dr. Cyber spun the Hypno Disk and we were off!

Time Cruising to the Shark's Crystal Cave

The story continues from previous page.

In a few minutes Dr. Cyber and I arrived at the Shark's Crystal Cave! We were about to split when Thresher, the Aquashark saw us. Before we could escape the Aquasharks surrounded us and put us in their cave.

We had to do something quick before the Aquasharks stole our time ship and left us stranded. Quickly, I picked up a rock and threw it toward a nearby shark. The enraged shark grabbed the cave's bars with its teeth and pulled, trying to get us. When the bars broke, we swam for our lives, got on the time vessel, and took off! On the rough ride back to the Lab, I fell off the time vessel, and everything went black. When I woke up I was back in my hometown. Whether my adventure was real or a dream, it sure was COOL!

All of a sudden, a door opened on the ship and we were lifted up into the Starship. Captain Nova Hunter and his assistant Ann Droid took us on a tour of the Starship. Each room was equipped with a computer. In the Secret Decoder Room they were decoding magnetic clues that life forms from other planets had left behind. The last stop on our tour was the cockpit, and Captain Nova actually let us fly the ship for a while. Then our friends had to finish their mission and said goodbye. We will never forget our adventure with the Explorien.
